DataSource, Inc. Announces Purchase of Integrated Document Solutions

Leading managed services provider expands U.S. locations

KANSAS CITY, MO (June 24, 2013) – DataSource, Inc., one of America’s leading managed services providers, has purchased Integrated Document Solutions (IDS), a single source provider of business communications and document management services, including warehousing and distribution.

IDS controls three major company-owned facilities and employs thirteen. The Dallas-based company has an impressive list of local and national clients. It provides customers with a broad range of business printing and marketing services including graphic design, online ordering, management, distribution, promotions and direct mail.

“Joining DataSource is a win-win for our clients and our team members.” said Walt Smith, CDC and Philip Templeton, the founders of IDS. “Our executives and staff are eager to bring new enterprise solutions, technology and cost reduction tools to our customers.”

“We look forward to sharing the benefits of the expansion with our customers,” said David Holland, president of DataSource. “Our combined capabilities will extend our market presence and take our industry-leading customer service to another level while fulfilling our strategic objectives for growth.”

DataSource’s document design and distribution services include national restaurant chains, commercial banking as well as automotive marketplaces in addition to well-known brands such as Carlson Worldwide, Americo and Blue Cross/Blue Shield.
